

Plant Reproduction

Plant reproduction

Plant reproduction

Plant reproduction

Plant reproduction

Plant reproduction

Plant reproduction

Before flowers can produce seeds, they must be pollinated.

Insects are attracted to flowers by their bright colors, lovely smell and sweet nectar.

Pollen from one flower sticks to the insects and gets carried to other flowers.

Once a flower has been pollinated, it can be fertilized. This is when seeds are formed.

Plant reproduction

